common Community Membership Neighborhoods APPLY

Experience bohemian energy, cultural diversity, and strong community vibe.

History

This offbeat neighborhood has a rich history: the oldest home in the area dates back to the 1850s and still stands today at 1375 Dean street. Many famous architects brought their talents to Crown Heights, designing impressive apartment buildings, rows of beautiful Queen Anne and Late Victorian mansions, places of worship, lush green spaces, and more. Today, the ornate details of the past meet the present to create a one-of-a-kind personality that echoes London's East End.

Community

From the Crown Heights Community Mediation Center to the Jewish Community Council and Services Center, this neighborhood is home to multi-cultural residents and organizations. Common's community partners host a wide variety of events that inspire and enable social interaction and collaboration between members, local businesses, and residents.
